Claire B. Soares

"What an Epic Expedition! This was one of the best experiences I've ever had. I left with an open mind anxious to learn about Antarctica and returned with an entire Antarctica Family whom I keep in touch with daily. Pictures do this expedition no justice. It's hard to explain this winter wonderland, you must experience it for yourself."

10 NIGHTS ABOARD SH MINERVA, SWAN HELLENIC

Ten nights aboard SH Minerva, Swan Hellenic's small luxury expedition ship: a balcony cabin, all meals and drinks included, a spa, and a team of naturalists, historians and photographers who make the difference between seeing Antarctica and understanding it. Life aboard SH Minerva

DAY BY DAY

A Sample 13-Day Journey

A sample itinerary. This is a private trip, planned around your dates and your people; every day of it can be changed. Book a call and we will make it yours.

Day 1

Buenos Aires, and a Cocktail to Begin

You are met at the airport and driven to the Alvear in Recoleta, where the afternoon is yours. This evening begins properly: a welcome cocktail reception, then a multi-course dinner paired with premium Argentine wines. Buenos Aires is the last warm night for a while, and the city knows how to give one.

Meals: Dinner

Day 2

The City by Day, the Ship by Evening

A private guided tour of Buenos Aires this morning, through Recoleta and San Telmo and the neighbourhoods that made the city what it is. Then the charter flight south to Ushuaia, the last town before the continent, and embarkation. Your cabin has a balcony. The first night aboard is spent watching the Beagle Channel slide past.

Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

Day 3

Into the Drake

The Drake Passage is the price of admission and it is worth paying. Six hundred miles of open water where the Atlantic and Pacific meet, and where the albatross begin. The enrichment programme starts today: naturalists, historians and photographers who will spend the crossing teaching you what you are about to see.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 4

The Second Day of Blue

The water changes colour before the ice appears. Somewhere in the night you cross the Antarctic Convergence, where cold water meets warm and the whole ecosystem changes with it. Briefings, a fitting for expedition gear, and the growing sense that you are somewhere very far from anywhere.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 5

First Ice, South Shetlands

Landfall. The South Shetland Islands are the doorstep of the peninsula, and the first Zodiac ashore is a moment people remember for the rest of their lives. Chinstrap and gentoo colonies, volcanic black sand, and a silence so complete it is disorienting.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 6

The Peninsula Proper

Two landings today, chosen by the expedition leader that morning, because Antarctica decides the itinerary and not the other way around. This is the part nobody can plan and everybody remembers.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 7

Paradise Bay

It was named by whalers, which tells you something, because they were not sentimental men. Glaciers come down to the water on three sides and the reflections are so still that the horizon disappears. Humpbacks feed here through the season.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 8

The Lemaire Channel

Seven miles long and barely a mile wide, with cliffs rising straight from the water on both sides. Photographers call it Kodak Gap and they are not joking. The ship goes through slowly, and everyone is on deck, and nobody talks much.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 9

The People Who Stay

A visit to a working research station, where scientists winter over in the dark for months at a time. They are generally delighted to see you. An afternoon landing follows, and an evening hosted by the Caviar in the Air team aboard.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 10

Your Last Day on the Ice

One more landing, and the expedition team will have saved something for it. Take the morning slowly. Most people find they stop photographing on the final day and simply look, which is the right instinct.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 11

North Again

The Drake in reverse, and it feels different going home. The enrichment programme finishes, the photographers help you sort what you shot, and the captain hosts a farewell dinner. Somewhere today the birds come back.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 12

Ushuaia, and a Table with a View

Disembark at the end of the world and climb to the Arakur, set above the town with the Beagle Channel laid out below. A gourmet lunch with curated wine pairings, an afternoon in the spa or the thermal pools, and a proper bed that does not move.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch

Day 13

No Goodbyes, Just See You Soon

A final breakfast, a transfer to the airport, and the long way home. You will spend the flight trying to explain the light to someone, and you will not manage it. Nobody does.

Meals: Breakfast
